MEMORIES

We, the annual staff of the 1973 Bulldog, have decided to dedicate this year's annual to Memories. This school year has been one of memories, some good and some bad.

In the world, President Nixon was re-elected by a landslide of votes, carrying all states but one; he also made his historic trips to the People's Republic of China and to Russia. Many Americans were saddened the day after Christmas, when after three weeks of illness, the former President Harry S. Truman died. Less than a month later, on January 22, the only living former president, Lyndon Baines Johnson, died after a sudden heart attack.

In school there was the memory of many new and different things. A new superintendent came to Eldo, bringing with him new and sometimes different ideas. French was added to curriculum; also Fiction and Advanced Composition, and Vocabulary and Mythology for Seniors who wished to take a fourth year of English. New lights were installed at the football field, a track record board was made to put in the lobby, and an athletic schedule board was built on the back lawn of the school.

Yes, for the most part, this year will be a good one to look back on.

Pictures, clockwise from here: The El Dorado Springs Jr.-Sr. High School as it is seen by someone on the outside. Donna Patrick tries to convince the jury in Contemporary Issues' mock trial that "Sonia Scott, alias Phyllis Lines, is indeed guilty of murdering Martha Harvey, alias Terresa Brewer. Mr. Steve Thomas relaxes after a long day of hard work. Mr. Thomas is the speech correction teacher for the school. The Bulletin board fixed by Mrs. Medearis. The El Dorado Springs track record board, located outside the gym. The 1973 school year will long be remembered because of the many days of school missed due to bad weather. Here some of the snow is still on the ground. In the background, the flag is seen flying at half mast to commemorate the death of Harry S. Truman. The Journalism II class takes time out from their busy schedule of annual work to pose for their picture. Shown in the picture from left to right: Edward Washington, Sharon Ray, Donna Patrick, Brenda Reeder, Sheila Marshall, Terresa Brewer, Phyllis Lines, Joyce Nikodim, Anne Kincaid, Barb Hughey, Barb Walsh, Lana Brooner, Linda McCowan Perrodin, and Cathy Jones. Memories

Memories, pressed between the pages
of my mind.
Memories, sweetened through the ages
just like wine.
Quiet thoughts come floating down
And settle softly to the ground
Like gold of autumn leaves around my feet.
I touch them and they burst apart
with sweet memories.
Sweet memories.
Of holding hands, and red bouquets,
And twilights trimmed in purple haze,
And laughing eyes and simple ways,
And quiet nights and gentle days
with you.
Memories, pressed between the pages
of my mind.
Memories, sweetened through the
ages just like wine.
Memories. Memories.
Of holding hands, and red bouquets,
And twilights trimmed with purple
haze,
And laughing eyes and simple ways,
And quiet nights and gentle days
with you.
Memories, pressed between the pages
of my mind.
Memories, sweetened through the
ages just like wine.
Memories. Memories.
Sweet memories. Memories.

Searching for ourselves,
Reaching out at times,
Pushing out at others;
Our mind going forward
Yet standing still.
Working alone, yet together
For a common goal—
a peaceful soul.
Hoping there's one who'll
grasp our hand;
Together we learn
To understand.

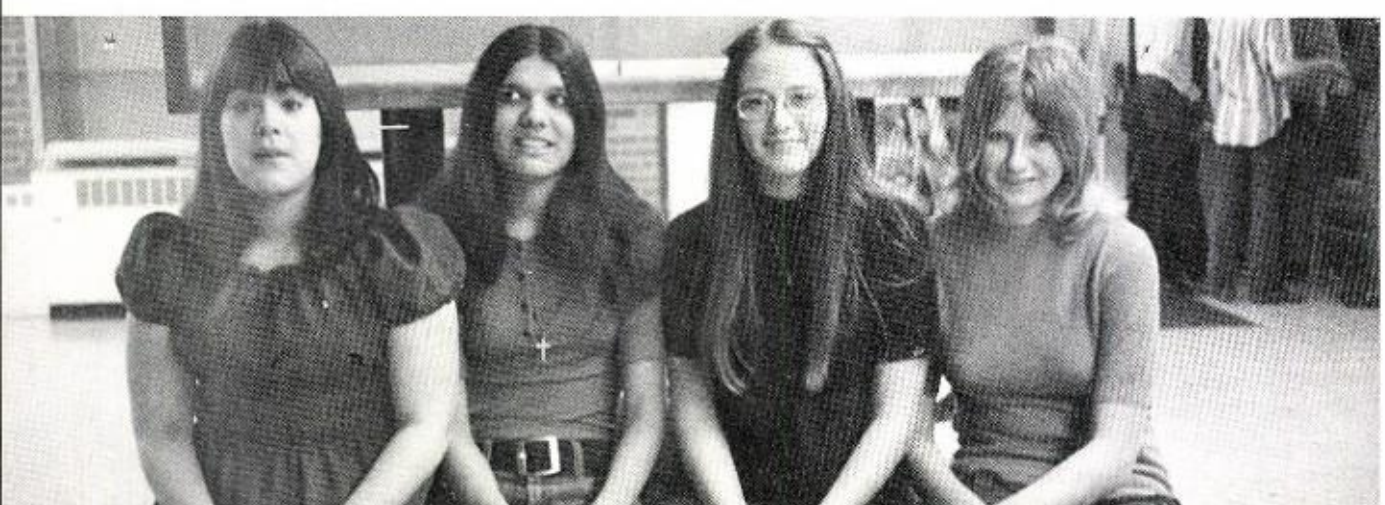
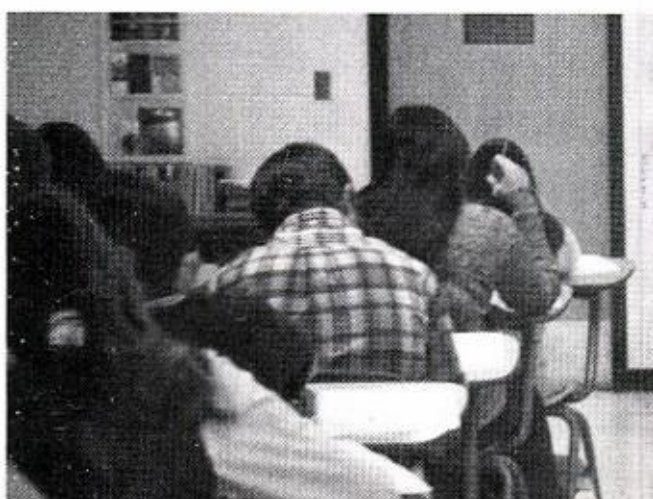
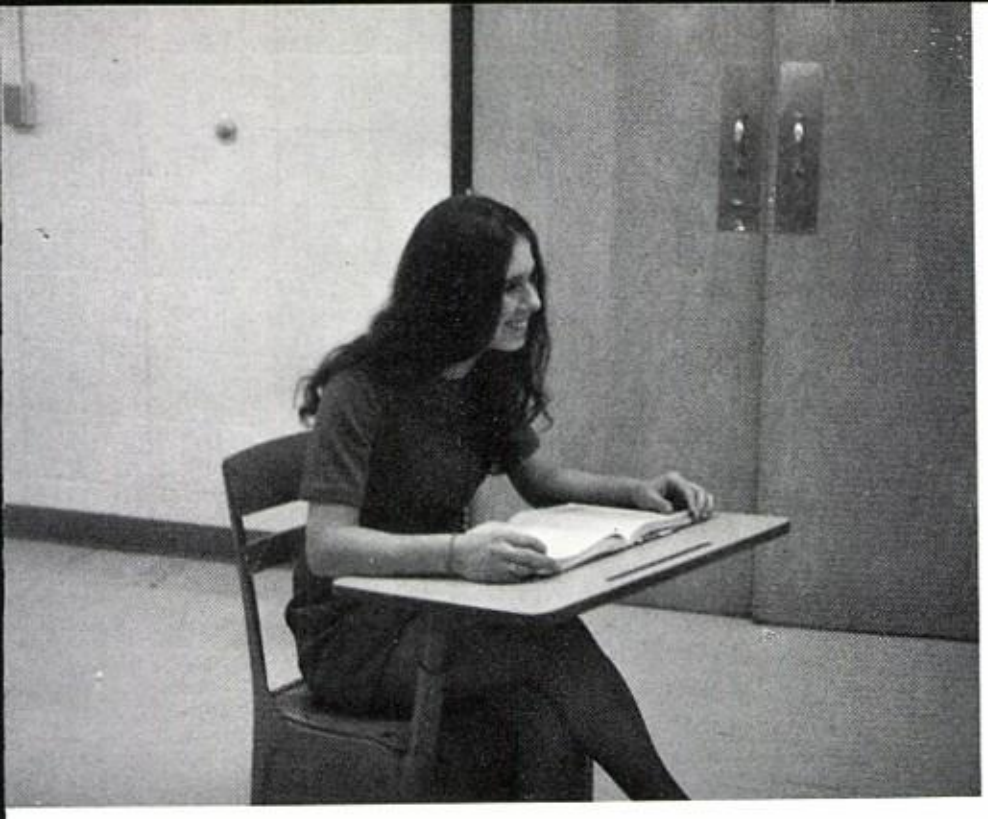
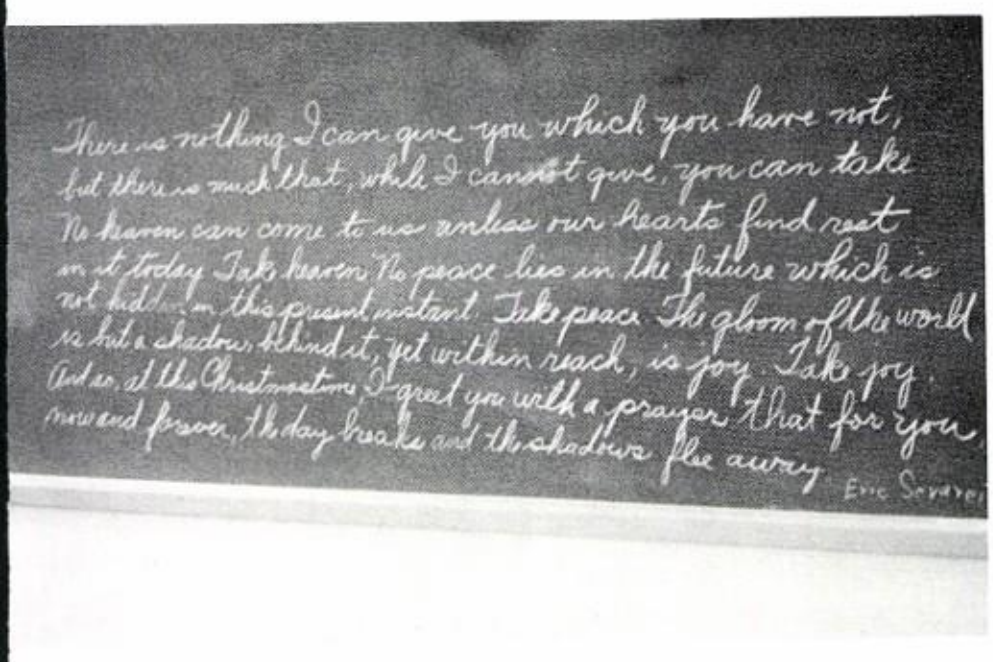
To Understand









There is nothing I can give you which you have not,
but there is much that, while I cannot give, you can take
No heaven can come to us unless our hearts find rest in it today. Take heaven. No peace lies in the future which is not hidden in this present instant. Take peace. The gloom of the world is but a shadow. Behind it, yet within reach, is joy. Take joy.
And so, at this Christmastime, I greet you with a prayer that for you now and forever, the day breaks and the shadows flee away.

Freshmen Stumble Their Way Into High School

The freshman year is a new experience for students. For the first time they are considered part of the high school. They are allowed to join some clubs and can play on the Brawn's side in the Powder Puff Football Game. This year the freshmen had a charity volleyball and basketball game for the Billy Johnson Fund.

Every sophomore has to face the challenge of putting all sorts of facts into their heads during world geography pictured in the center. Upper right, sophomores wonder if they will ever be able to understand the complex world of biology. Center right, study halls were really made for studying, but sometimes its purpose is forgotten about. Lower right, Rajohn Bishop tries to explain what she is talking about but Michelle and LaDanta don't seem to understand. Lower left, Mr. Thompson and Miss Dixon try to explain that before geometry can be learned and worked, you have to know the basic theorems. Upper right, during Mrs. Perkins' English class, some students don't seem to mind doing anything but sitting. Some even wonder why there was ever such a thing as sophomore English.

We Take Time Out from Studies Though

Reading clockwise from copyblock: Sophomores had their own hall, "Hall of Fame". Jan Mayberry and Julie Lewis express their feelings in their art work. Sophomores enjoy playing in the snow. Lynn Francis and Ronnie Whitesell strengthen their arm muscles. Driver's Education is still fun even though it's a regular class. Typing increases the feeling of competition. LaDanta Broughton was the sophomore candidate for Barnwarming.

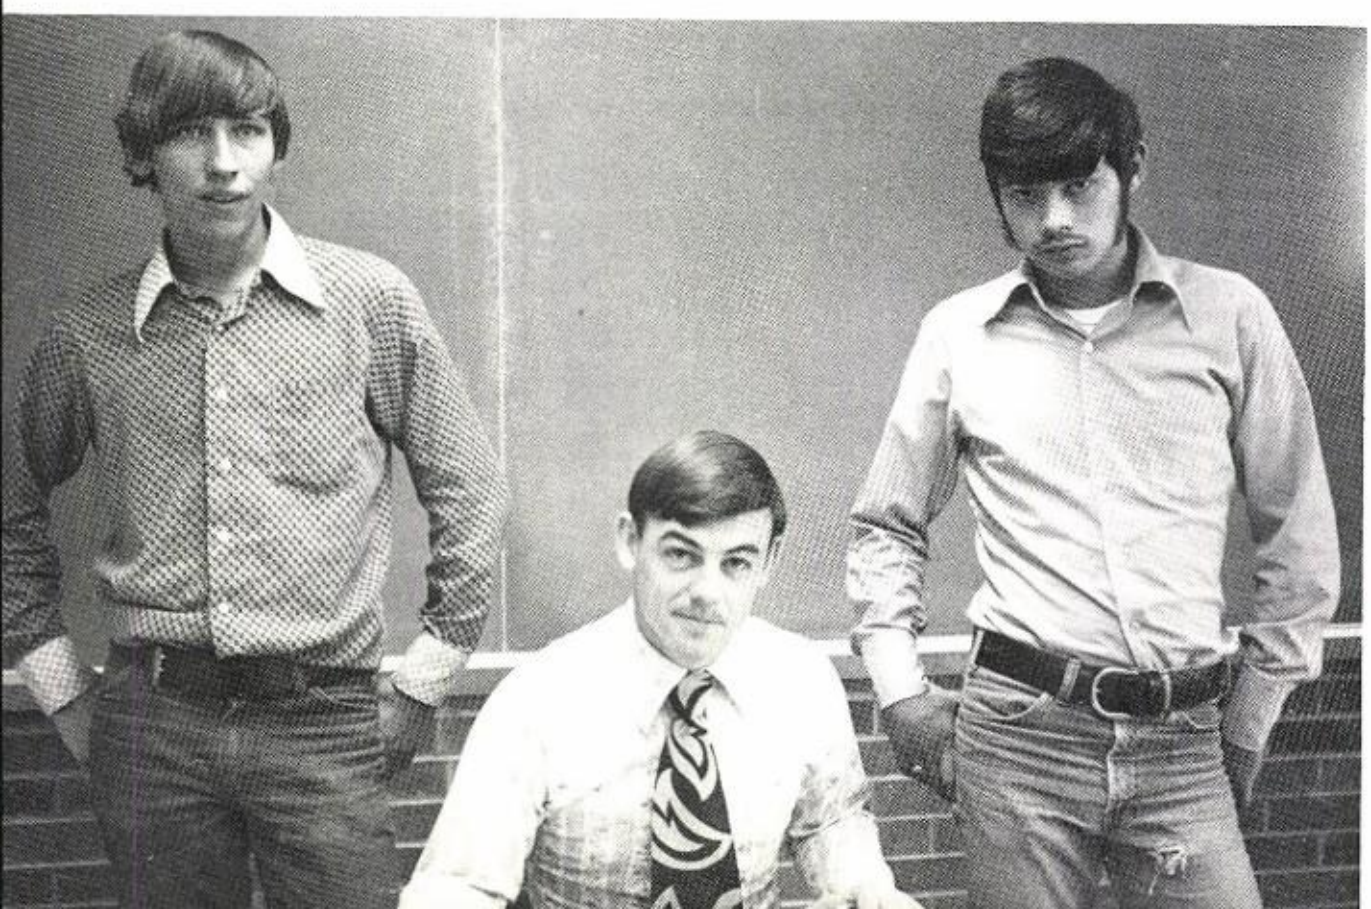
Seniors Gather Memories To Last A Lifetime.

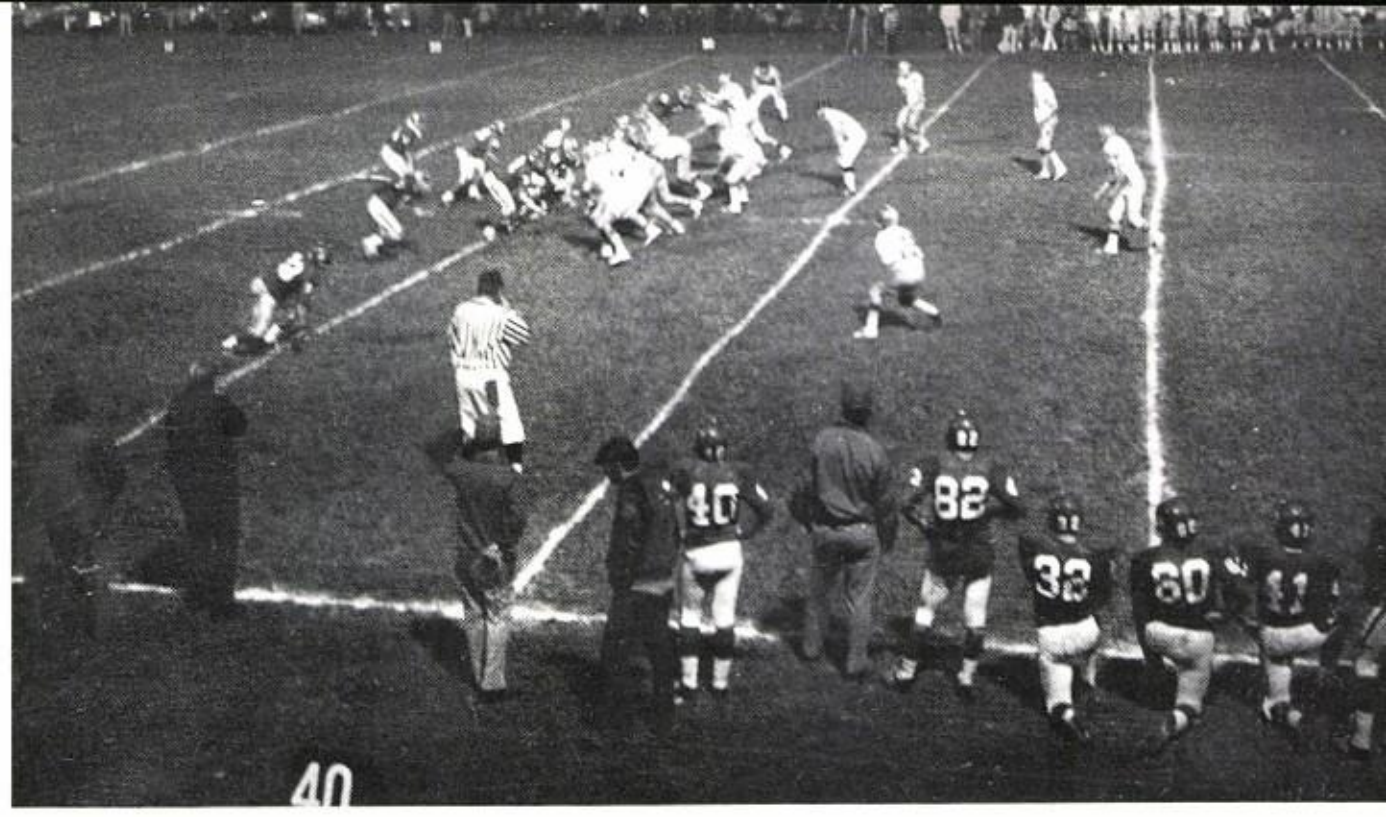


When Becky Hacker died on December 15, 1969, she took with her a portion of each of our hearts. We were all so close to Becky that our class didn't seem complete without her. We were freshmen then and it was hard to realize that God knew what he was doing when he took her from this world.

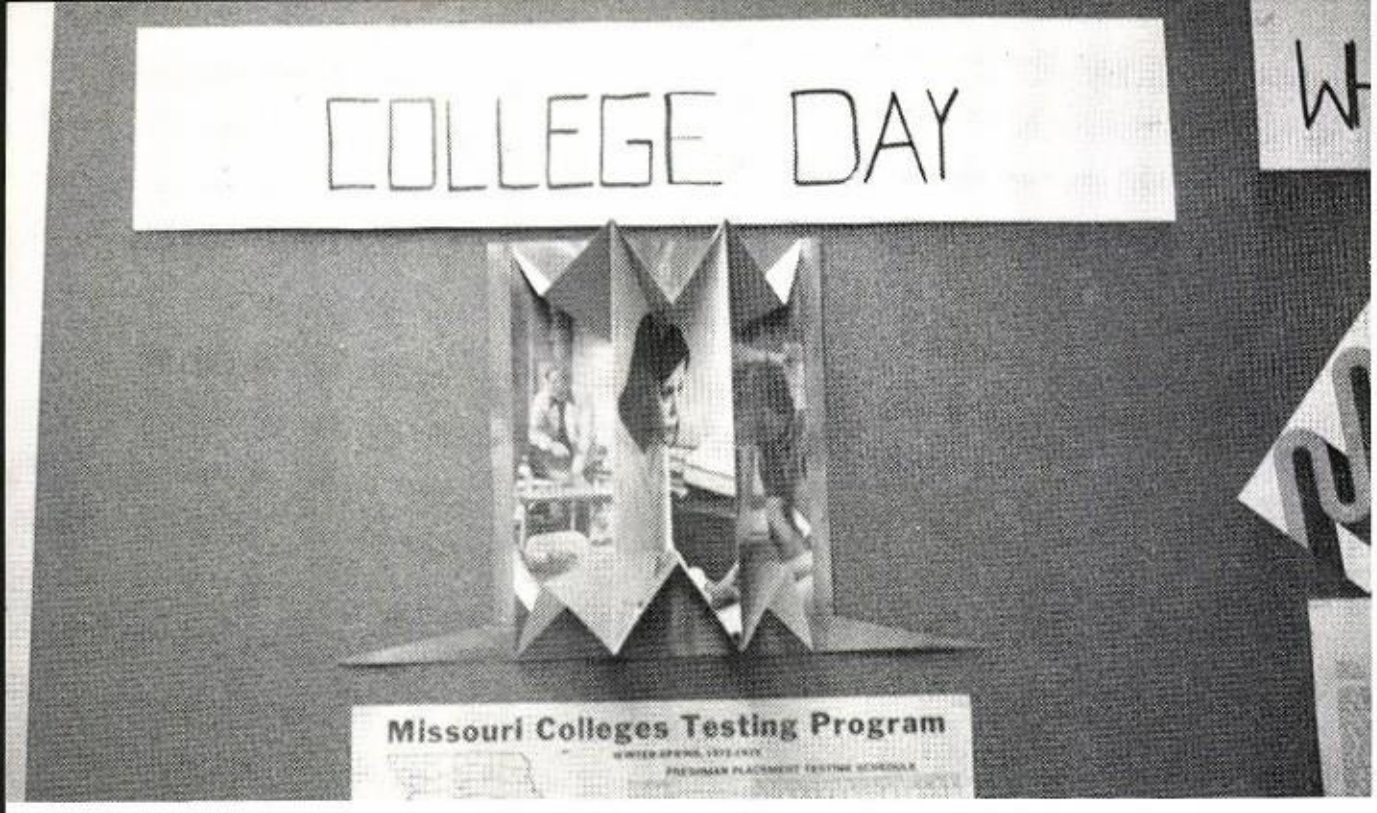
Becky was the kind of person who believed in love and happiness, and these two qualities alone made her in turn loved by all who knew her.

Now three years later, we are seniors, graduating, and going out into the world to find our place in society. As each of us leave we will take with us one of the most beautiful, cherished memories of our twelve years in school - - - - - - -

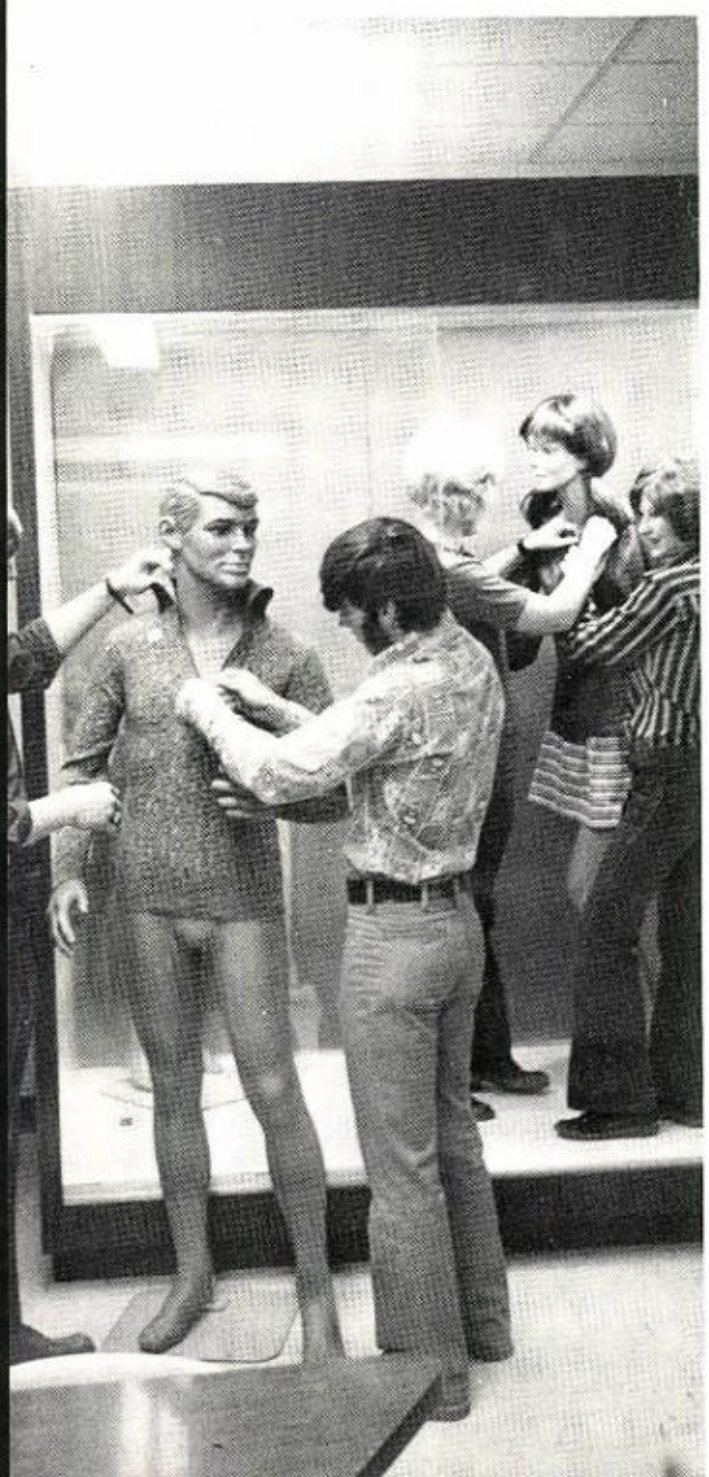
BECKY HACKER

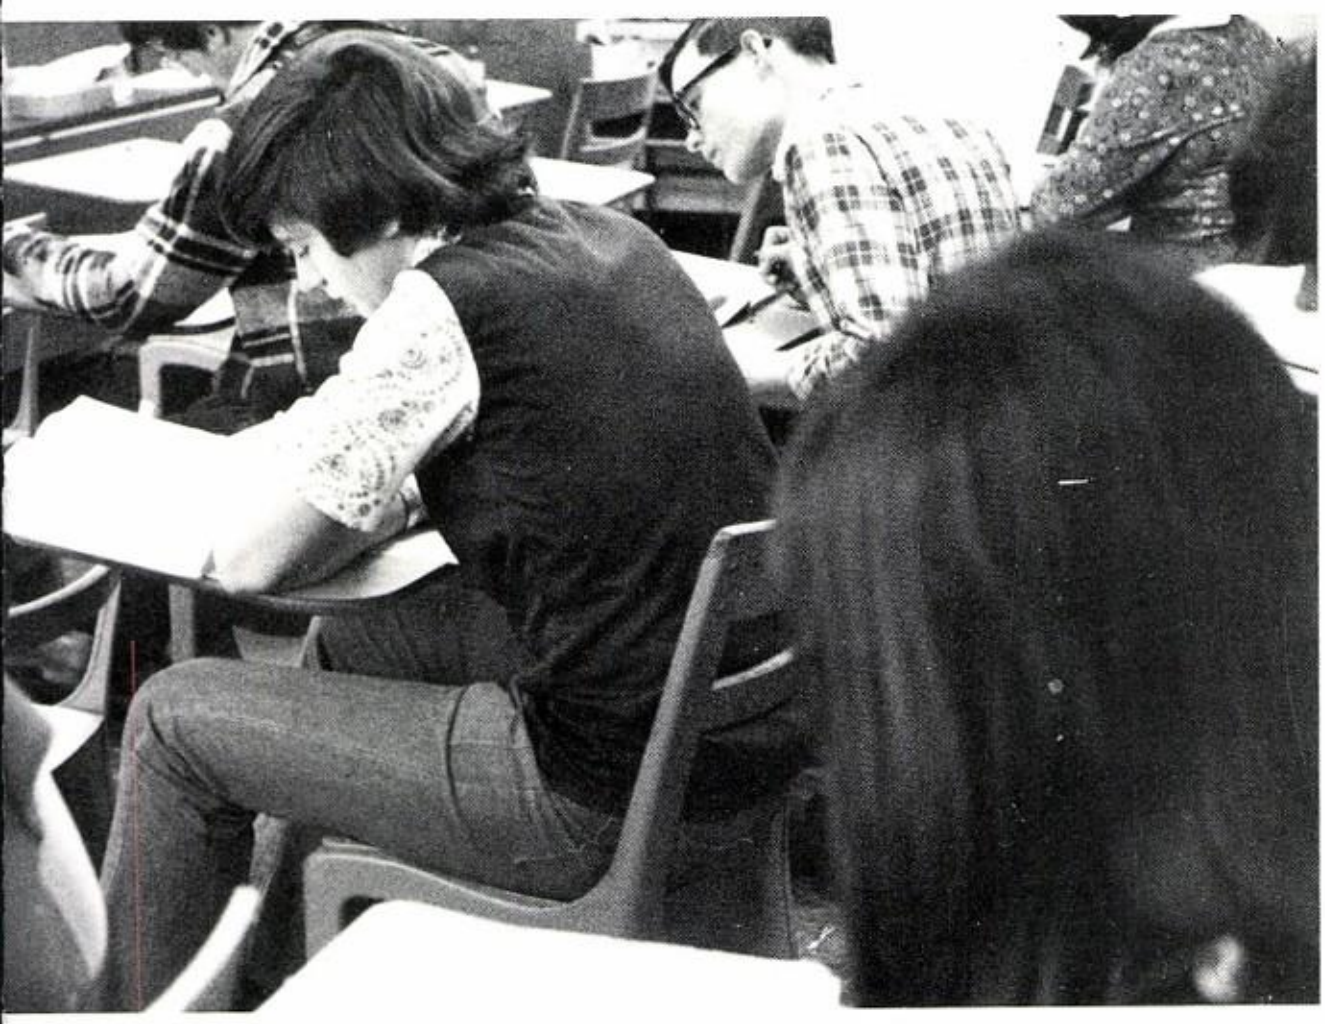


Twelve years ago we started out with nothing and now we have gathered treasures that are too precious even for words. These treasures, love, friendship, knowledge, and hope, will withstand all the barriers of time. Clockwise from here: The two big events at EHS were Basketball Homecoming and Football Homecoming. The two girls who were chosen queen were Debbie Mitchell (left) and Cathy Jones (right). The varsity basketball squad was supported by two Senior boys, Armando De La Rosa and Zande Eckard. Here they are shown with Coach Tilford, varsity coach. Senior twirlers, Karen Taylor and Becky Sorensen agree that being twirler is as much fun as it is work. Karen Taylor represented the Senior class as candidate for Miss Merry Christmas. Harvest Queen candidates Terresa Brewer, Joyce Nikodim, Donna Patrick, and Neoma Schantz are trying to eliminate the competition. The varsity football squad consisted of nine Senior players. Here they are shown in the game against Pleasant Hill. Senior cheerleaders show the spirit stick. They are Donna Patrick, Joyce Nikodim, Terresa Brewer, and Cathy Jones. Donna Patrick, Black Walnut Festival candidate, congratulates Heart Throb King, Larry Biddlecome on his victory.



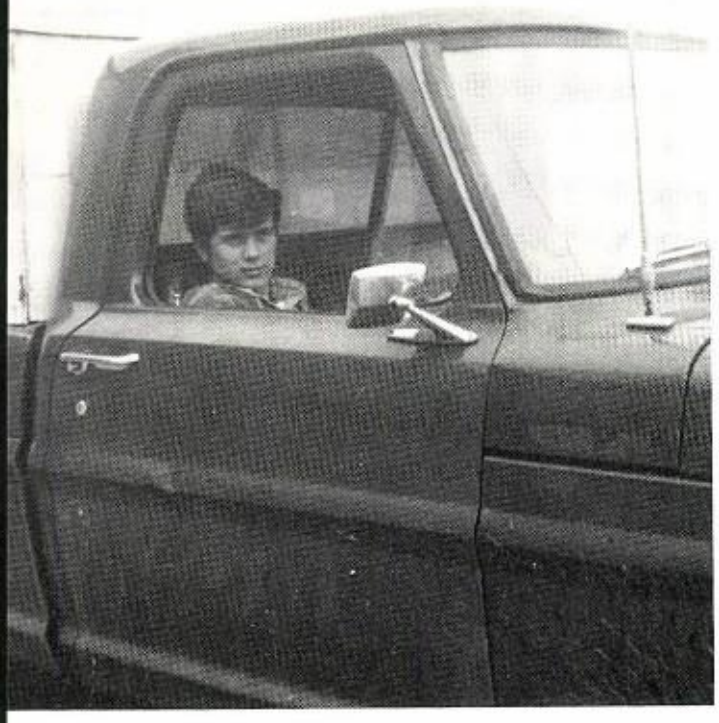
Seniors Today
Leaders Tomorrow





This year many Seniors realized for the first time that they were rapidly growing into the young adults that would soon be the leaders of tomorrow. To many, this realization was frightening and unacceptable. To others, it meant a whole new world was opening up for them and they were ready to accept its challenge. Fortunately, EHS offered its Seniors many opportunities for help in becoming better leaders.

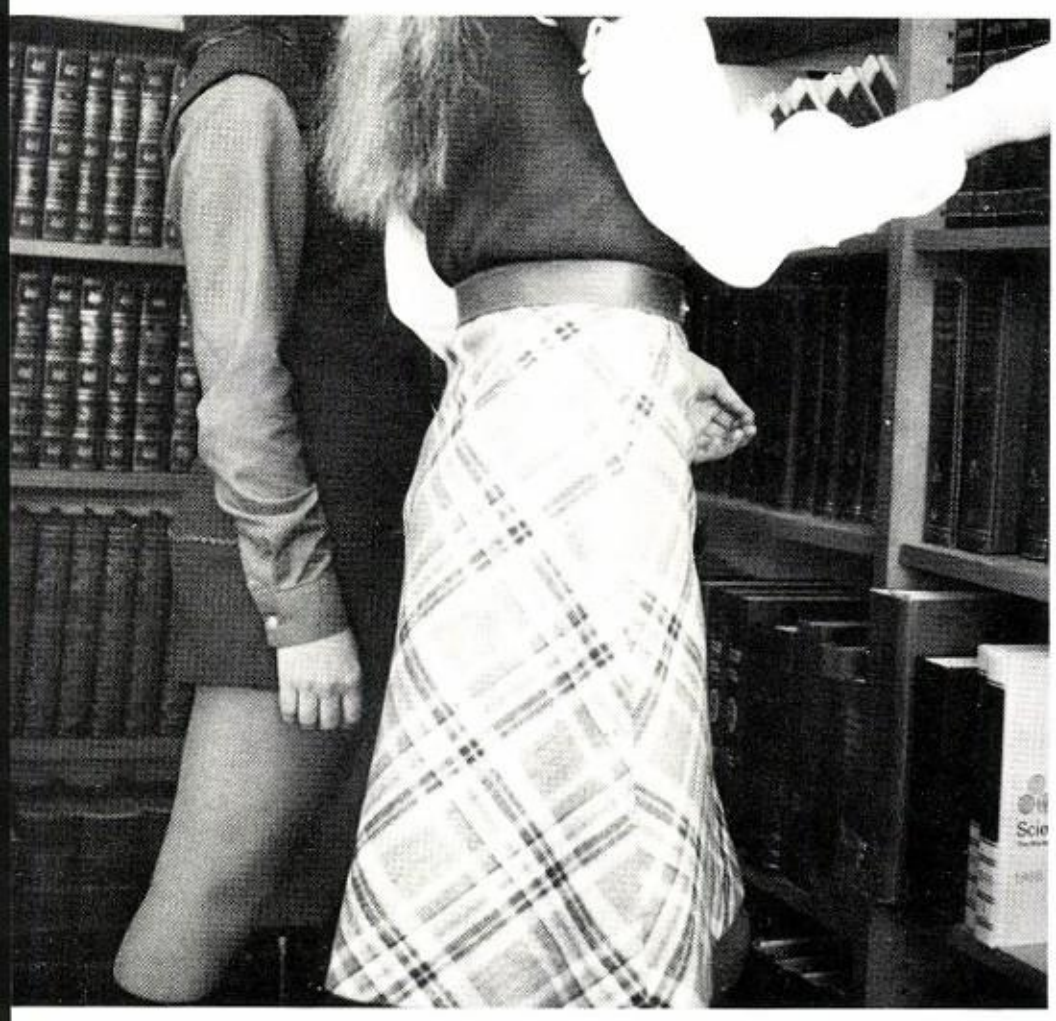
Clockwise from here: Two delegates from the army speak to Seniors concerning the opportunities in the army on Armed Forces Day. Mrs. Medearis helps Seniors with their after-graduation plans. Here she is helping Phyllis Lines decide what courses she should take in college. Eldon Amick sacks groceries at his afternoon DECA job. DECA students learn to dress mannequins in fourth hour DECA class. Mrs. Medearis advertises College Day. Many Seniors interested in going to college had to fill out an application for admission to the college of their choice. Mrs. Darlene Tudor speaks to Seniors on Career Day. Senior class officers: Rita Ehlers, treasurer, Neoma Schantz, secretary, Jerry Mitts, Vice-president, Tom Huff, president. Some Seniors prepare for the future by taking bookkeeping.

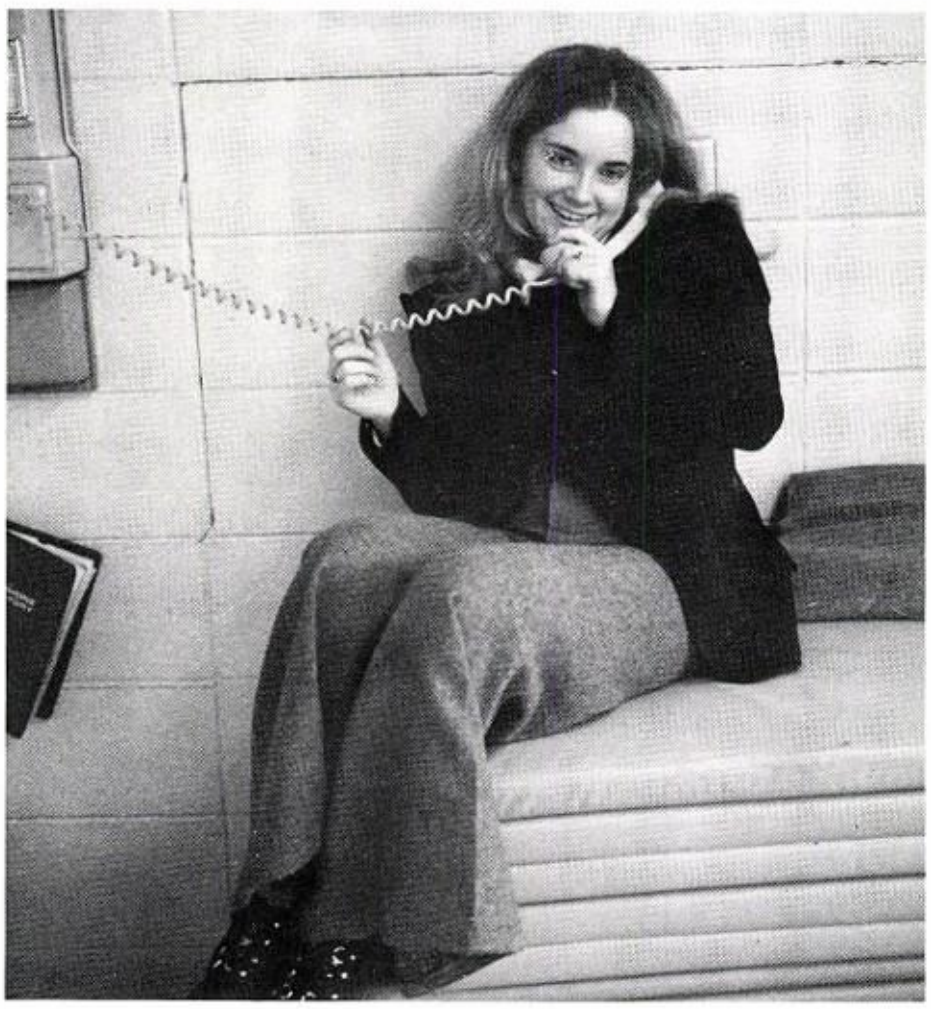


To some Seniors school was all work and no play. But to the other ninety-nine percent it was a year of fun. It was a year that meant sharing responsibility and moments of joy. Although everyone had a different meaning for the word fun, everyone found fulfillment of his definition in the most fantastic year ever — 1973.

Clockwise from here: David Chism is doing the same thing he does everyday at noon; nothing. Lana Brooner was a new addition to the varsity football team. Gordon Pierce thinks ice cream is good. The Senior class sponsored a concession stand at one of the football games. Ruth Graf, Shauna Beason, Kauna Beason, Rita Ehlers and Alice Spencer take time-out from their busy schedule to act stupid. Jim Tinsley rears back to show the supreme strength in his arms. John Bishop looks at his meal in dismay. Arlinda Vittetoe and Penny Davis fight over who's going to get a mouth full of foam first. Julie Acheson explains to Joe Eaves that she's always had that peaches and cream complexion. Roger Bishop, Logan Harrison, Lyle Onckelet and John Bishop talk over the fate of the world. Sheila Marshall, Anne Kincaid, Phyllis Lines and Linda Perrodin are practicing their part in the New York Opera.

We Try to Convince Ourselves We Are Capable, Responsible, Self-reliant and Crazy





Clockwise from here: Patches of all kinds were popular during our Senior year. Becky Sorensen and Sheila Marshall were just two Senior girls who enjoyed wearing the midi and the mini length of dress. Wearing the POW bracelet was just one way the Seniors showed that they cared about peace in Vietnam. The smock, often called "a mommy top", was a popular style for the Senior girls. The Senior boys, Jeff Day and Charles Morris, followed the styles by wearing overalls. Lana Brooner was just one Senior girl who enjoyed having her hair long. When it rains the midi coat and the domed-shaped umbrella are a must. Brent Kelsey and Jerry Mitts agree that long hair and sideburns are "in" for guys. About the middle of the year, wide-legged pants and blazers came to EHS. Lana Brooner, along with many other girls, liked the look they gave. Blue jeans, shawls, and levi jackets were the comfortable things to wear to school. Pictured here is Arlinda Vittetoe and Gary Poore.

But a Teacher's Helping Hand Is Sometimes Needed

Pictures clockwise, Mrs. Suzana Swager and some of her students. Miss Castle. She is a student teacher from Southwest Baptist College teaching for Mrs. Swager. 6th grade choir at open house. Looking through the doorway Mrs. Houk lends a helping hand to one of her students. Advanced Beginning Band. A helping hand is always there when needed.

Fifth Graders Like Dressing Out for P.E.

In fifth grade we do lots of things that we have never done in school before. This year, in the cafeteria, we are allowed to sit anywhere we want to and when we are finished eating we can leave and go back to our rooms. Instead of changing classes when the teacher tells us, we leave when the bell rings at the end of the hour. We have study halls every day which means we can get most of our homework done at school and not have to take so much home with us. We get to know our upperclassmen in fifth and sixth grade choir. Gym is a lot more fun this year because we get to dress out.

The pictures are clockwise starting in the upper right hand corner. Top Right: Mrs. Maxine Wilson has been teaching in El Dorado for 19 years. Center Far Right: One of the 144 fifth grade students who enjoy dressing out for gym is Pam Maxwell. Center Right: Tina Frey cheers her team on to victory in P.E. Far Bottom Right: Sometimes we just goof off! Bottom Center Right: We like open house because sometimes the teachers brag on us! It gives us a chance to show off our work to our parents. Center Bottom left: Boo! Bottom Left: Sometimes we even surprise the teachers and study! Top Left: Mrs. Elaine Monroe is one of our very favorite teachers.

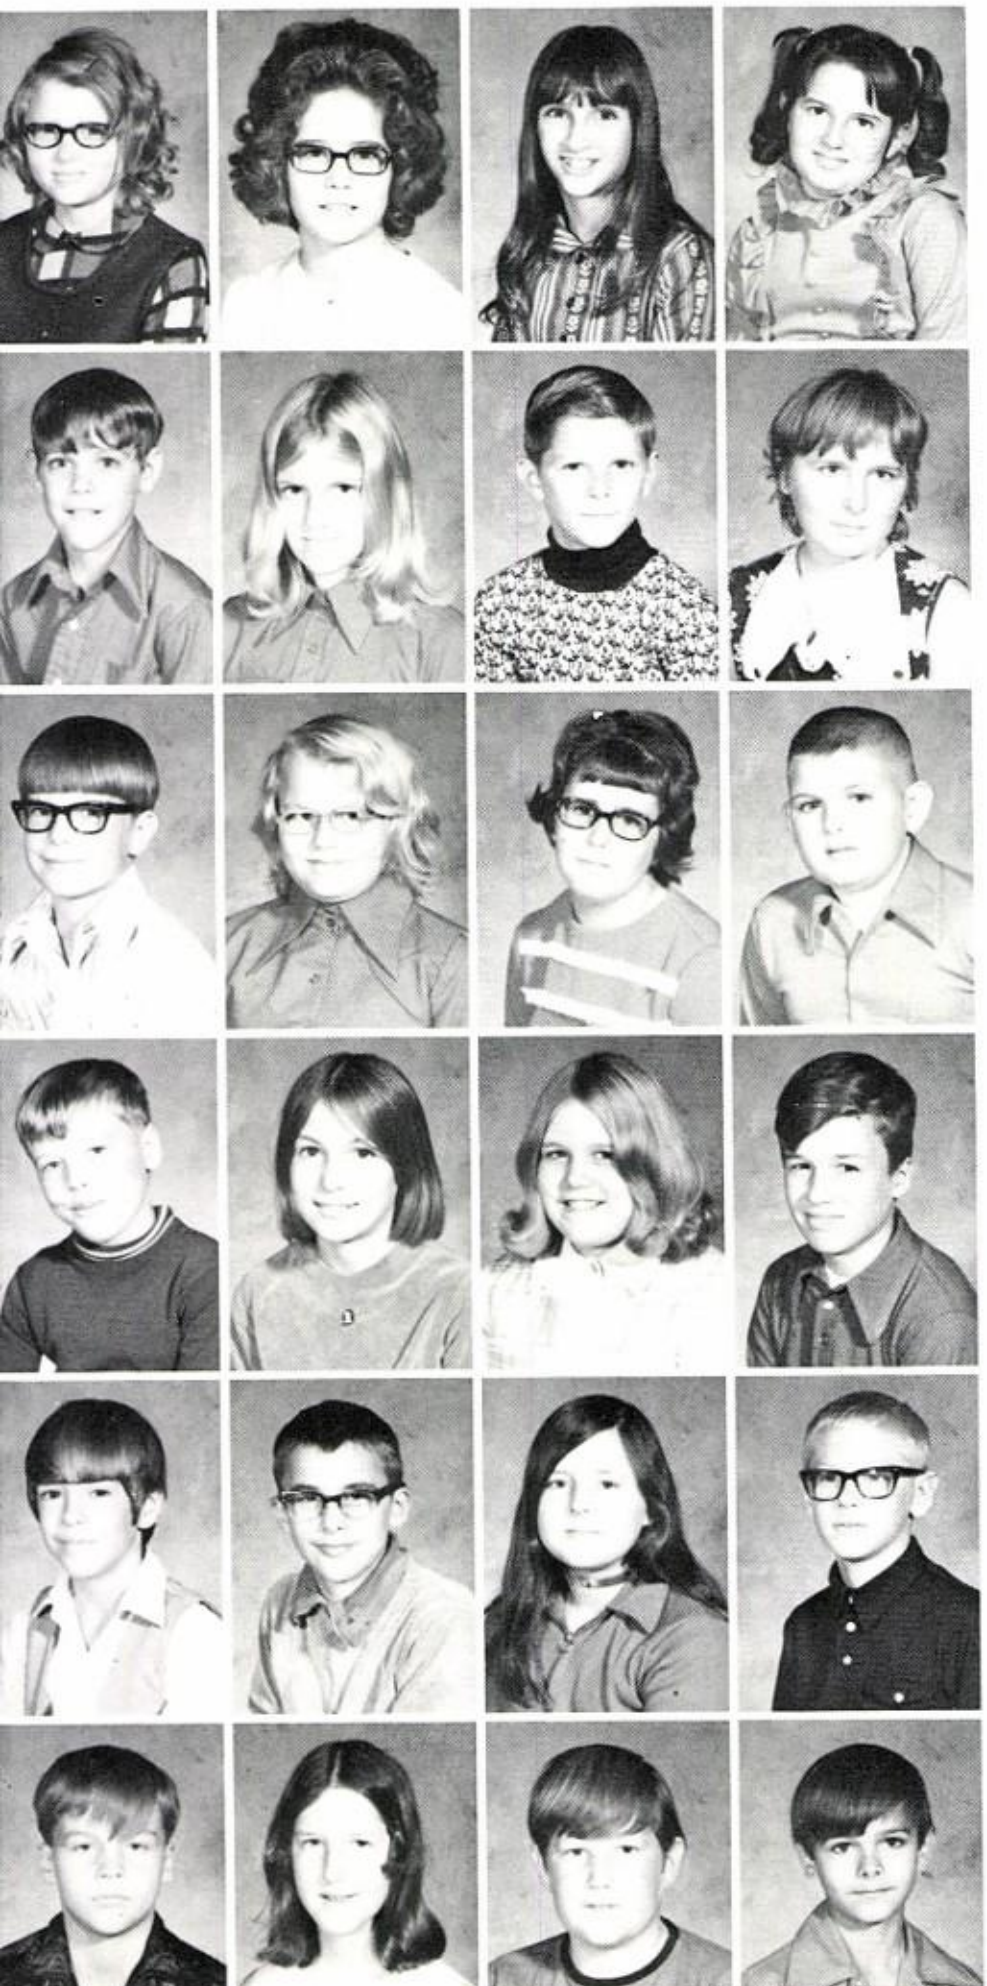
Through a long day, music provides a period of relaxation to everyone. We are proud of our music department.
The pictures are clockwise, starting below: We are working hard to fill the places of those who came before us. Bottom right: Our small band gets better every day. Some day, we will be as good as our high school band is now. Far left on bottom: Hair was made for pulling! Jona Brewer just found out. Far left center: Mrs. June Marshall has been teaching school for three years. This is her first year as a fifth grade teacher. Top left: Fifth and Sixth grade a cappella choir stop singing long enough to pose for a picture. This year, the choir sang at the nursing home at Christmas time. They also participated in other activities. Top center: The orchestra plays a tune. Orchestra is one of our elective courses this year.



Band and Choir Make School Fun

We Walk Back from the Cafeteria by Ourselves Now

In the fifth grade students are allowed more freedom. Students are able to leave the lunchroom anytime they are through eating. They are allowed to select their elective courses, such as art, choir, beginners band or orchestra, and study hall. This year they are finally allowed to keep their own weekly lunch tickets.

Art class gives fifth graders the chance to use their artistic minds to create priceless pieces of art. Fifth graders can always count on the guiding hand of Mrs. Vickers when they are looking for a library book. Mrs. Koca teaches her fifth grade music classes the various musical instruments. Mrs. Baumgarner helps her students during study hall. Fifth graders await their Valentine's Day party. Mrs. Barbour checks daily papers.

There are 107 kids in 2nd grade. Every week we have show and tell and during the winter or on cold days, we bring toys to play with during recess.

The pictures are arranged on the page starting in the middle left: Second graders like to draw, too! Left: Mrs. Lillie Francis has a small desk of her own. Lower Left: Singing is something we all love to do. Far Left: This class is hard at work. Upper Left: Dennis Fredine sings along with the rest of the kids. Upper Middle: Six of the second graders are proud of their Christmas tree. Upper Right: Mr. Robert Williams helps a student with his drawing. Far Right: Nothing like being busy!!! Lower Right: Bruce Swopes draws a picture.

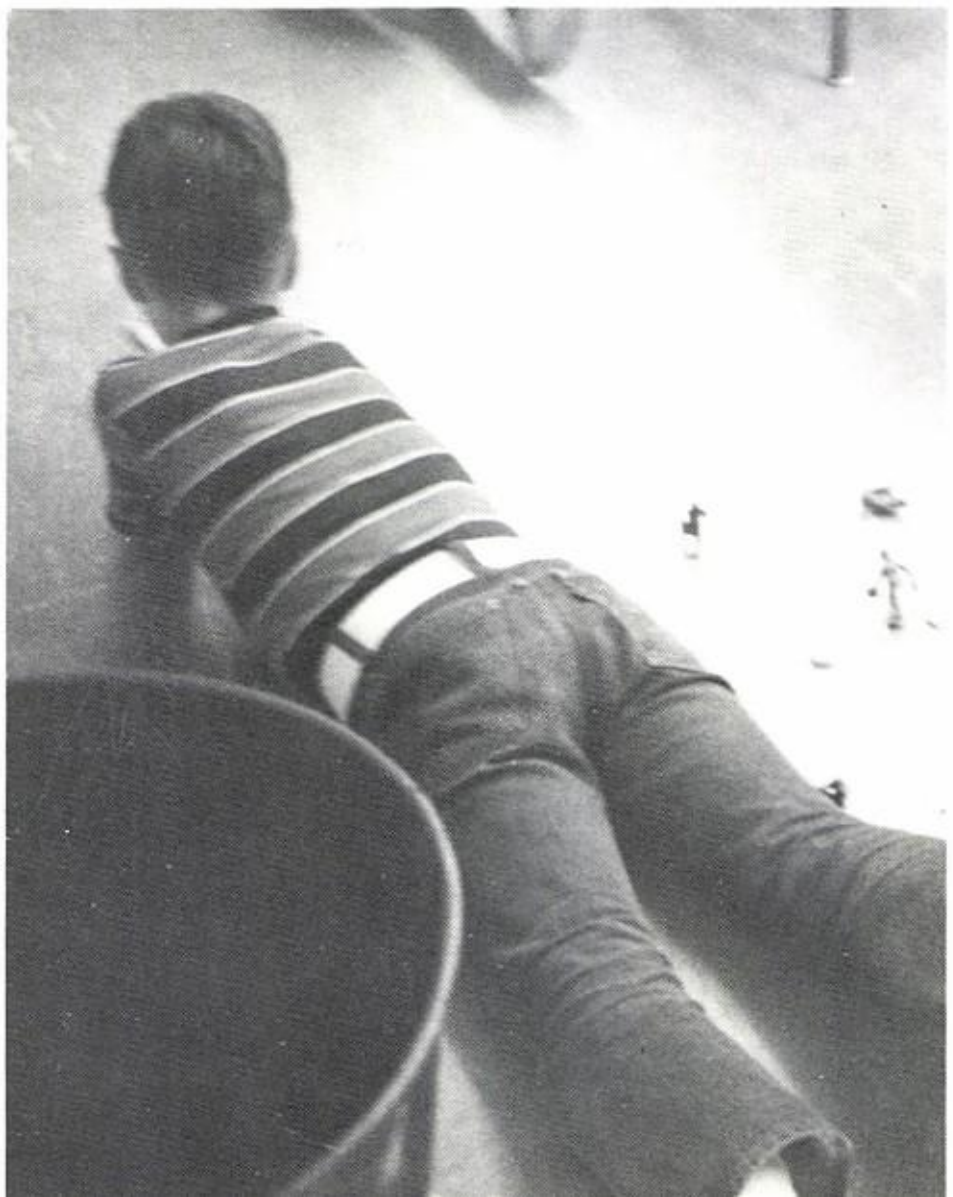
Cursive Writing Is Harder Than We Thought



Pictures, clockwise from here: Alan Morlan studies hard to make good grades in second grade. Mrs. Webb leads second graders in a game at recess time. Miss Holt watches her students read their daily lessons. Mrs. Ruth Koca leads the first and second graders in a song at the annual Christmas program. An art design for American Education Week. We display our artistic efforts for everyone to see. "Hoot, hoot!" said the owls to all the visitors. The swing at a rare moment — empty. The dance around the Christmas tree at the Christmas Program.

Kindergarten Is the Bestest Grade of All

Kindergarten is a time to prepare us for the years ahead. We learn to get along and make new friends with those around us. At the same time, we learn to work and play, even if we really don't want to. That's how we learn to cooperate.

Pictures reading clockwise from the copy are: Lindsey McWilliams enjoys reading a book and looking at the pictures. As we watched the Christmas program, the teddy bear had to see too. It's nice not to have worries like the big kids do. Mrs. Williams plays songs on the piano for us sometimes. We even learn songs to sing.

We Make Many New Friends

Above: The jungle gym can be lots of fun. Below: After playing so hard, we have time out for a nap. Mrs. Cross tells us a story. On the opposite page, Mrs. Lois Wakefield looks on as we play outside. It's supposed to be nap time but, some of us just rest. We tell each other secrets and keep them too. Upper right corner: Mrs. Kincaid helps us when we have trouble. In kindergarten, we learn to share with our new friends — even our glue. We're always ready to eat a hardy meal at noon. We leave Liston School and go to the cafeteria to eat with the big kids.

And Have Lots of New Experiences

Pictures reading clockwise are: Cathy Marshall swinging at play period. Mrs. Cross helps us with our work. A really new experience is eating in the cafeteria. We even eat with silverware instead of our hands now that we're in school. We have our own water fountains too. We wait in line and take turns even if we're dying for a drink. We learned the Pledge of Allegiance at the beginning of the year, so that we could say it every morning. We get to goof off once in a while, but not very often. What we really like to do though is art work — coloring, drawing, and cutting out things. Mrs. Graf is one of our helpers. Whenever we have a problem, she helps us. As you can see, we have lots of experiences.
